Arrest of an Alleger Homicipe.—A man named Samuel Brust was arrested, evening before last, by Officers Smith and Wigers, at a house on the corner of Buckeye and Poplar-streets, upon a charge of having killed another named William Smith, a few days ago, in St. Louis. From what we were able to learn in regard to the matter, it appears that the two men left this city together, with the intention of purchasing some land in Missouri, and upon their arrival in St. Louis stopped at the same hotel. A week ago last Saturday they went a short distance into the country, and upon their return retired together to their room. The next morning Smith was discovered dead in his bed, with his throat cut from ear to ear, while Brust was no where to be found. The alleged homicide was committed to the Hammond-street Station-house, to await a requisition from the Governor of Missouri. Upon examination his trank was found to contain two knives, one of which was stained with blood, two pistols and a considerable purse of money. wait, O. maight

ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Committee of one hundred, appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the celebration of the coming anniversary of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association, was held night before last, at the Merchants Exchange. Reports were read from a few of the Committees, from which it appears that the exercises will consist of an anniversary address, to be delivered by William Hooper; dramatic readings, by J. E. Murdoch, and a poem by W. W. Fosdick. The Chairman of the Committee on Music stated that the orchestra of the Opera-house could be secured for the occasion. The price of the tickets has been fixed at five dollars, admitting a lady and gentleman—each additional lady two dollars. The invited guests, we believe, are to be admitted free of charge, but the number has been limited to sixty.

The President stated that it was expected the invitations should not be confined to the members of the Association. They should, however, be granted under the careful supervision of the Executive Committee; and he hoped such invitations would tend to increase the interest of the citizens in the progress of the Association, and would induce many to become members thereof.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet next Saturday evening. Mall-street, Cincinnali.

MERTING OF THE CIRCUSNATI HORTCUTURAL SOCIETY.—At the regular weekly meeting of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society, on Saturday morning, President Orange occupied the Chair and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. After reading a number of communications on different subjects, the following directions from Mr. Purnell, of the Ohio. Female College, in regard to forcing the growth of vegetables, were read and ordered to be placed on the minutes:

Parnell, of the Ohio. Female College, in regards to forcing the growth of vegetables, were read and ordered to be placed on the minutes.

It may be commenced any time between December and the middle of March; if things are wanted early, begin accordingly.

For the bed, throw horse-manure with one-fourth of leaves—oak leaves being best; mix well together for fermentation; turn it over about twice in eight or ten days, at which time it will be fit for use. This mixture will heat more uniformly and retain its warmth longer than manure alone. Make the bed about eighteen inches deep and one foot wider than the frame on all aides. Put on the frame and sash, and let them remain but two days to bring up the heat; the purposes after the middle of February. It will do for lettuce, radishes, pepper-grass, cucumbers, melons, potatoes and asparagus, and for cabbage, calliflower, tomato, egg, pepper and sweet potatoe plants. Care must be taken to cover up well at night, and during the day to give air, if not freezing—on warm days freely. If snow falls in the night so as to cover the beds, let them remain so, for the plants will take no harm for several days, as snow is a natural covering.

For forcing Rhubarb, place barrels over the roots about the last week in November, and cover the entirely with a mixture of leaves and staple manure. You may pull in midwinter. Or, as another method, plant some good strong roots about the last of October, in tubs, (barrels cut in two) and put them in a warm cellar. In this way you may enjoy a rhubarb ple in February. Lastly, by simply placing barrels alone over the roots in the garden, you will have it three weeks sooner and of a finer quality than that grown naturally.

Several of the members then followed with remarks as follows, after which the Society POLICEMAN SUSPENDED.—A policeman of the Seventeenth Werd was suspended from service hat Saturday by Mayor Bishop, for thirty days, for playing cards and drinking during the time that he should have been on Hymereal.—The matrimonial market in this city is sensibly declining. The number of matriage licenses issued by the Clerk of the Probate Court during the past week amounted to thirty-nine, against forty-six during the week previous.

Several of the members then followed with remarks as follows, after which the Society Mr. Howarth observed that those peachtrees which were nearest the house generally escaped the worm better than others. He at-escaped the worm better than others. He attributed this to the soap-suds thrown out. He had found soap-suds very destructive to the worm, and changed the glue and grub to a very dull lead color.

Mr. Petticolas banked up the earth, in June, six inches in hight, round his peachtrees, to prevent the worm; and he had found this plan very successful. The grub seeks a tender place in the bark. There are two sets of files in a year; one in June and July, and another in September.

Dr. Warder did not think that cold alone was sufficient to kill the peach grub, as he had was sufficient to kill the peach grub, as he had found by experiment.

On the subject of double-working apples, Dr. Mosher stated a fact in connection with the Yellow Bellfleur. This tree is known to be a shy bearer and unproductive. Mr. Byron, of Kenton county, Ky., many years ago planted five Yellow Bellfluers and one hundred Rowlie's Janets. For many years the latter bore profusely; the former very sparingly. Thinking he had too great a proportion of the Janets, he grafted some of his Janets with grafts from the Bellfleurs. The effect of this was, these double-worked Bellfleurs produced more fruit than all the original Bellfleur trees, and continued to bear abundantly, while the original trees bore as sparcely as ever.

Mr. Petticolas corroborates this by stating that he had double worked the Black Apple with the Yellow Bellfleuer and Golden Russet, which had greatly increased in frait-fulness.

Mr. Howarth observed that he had seen that ringing the bark of the Quince had made it productive when it only produced blossoms before.

With regard to the destruction of the borer on apple trees, Mr. Petticolas stated that it had been very destructive with him on Bell-fleuers headed high, but on those trees headed low, with side branches nearer the ground, it had ceased its ravages.

MELANCHOLY ATTEMPT AT SELF-DESTRUCTION.—A YOUNG GIBL SWALLOWS POISON AT THE DODE-STEP OF HER BEHAVER.—TO PERSONS WHO are given to introspection, there is very little in life to make death hateful; and to those who, from their own experience, can form an idea of the capacity of the human mind and heart to suffer, no effort which any one may make to escape from the ills of this planet, can be at all surprising. On the contrary, existence, at least, so far as regards the present, when we think how it begins, passes and ends, seems so utterly poor and mean, and worthless, that the wonder, if any, would be that a single individual could be found to prize it.

mind, haunted her daily, and the very person who should, at such a time, have been a support for her tottering spirit deserted her. Day after day she sought, and with tears implored him, by the love he had'sworn, to save her from the abyss into which, in the eyes of her companions, she was was about to fall. Her reputation was endangered, her peace of mind destroyed, her honor wounded, the only person who could minister successfully to her breaking heart refused his assistance, and nothing was left to her but death. Yesterday morning, early, she repaired to the home of her lover, and lying down at his door, swallowed almost an ounce of laudanum. When the family arose about six o'clock, they were horrified at the sight of a woman with bared bosom and dishevelled hair, half dead at the door step. Coroner Carey was immediately called, and in his capacity of physician, by the well-directed application of proper remedies, saved the life which must hereafter be a burthen too heavy to be contentedly borne.

The square to which we refer, contains a church, and to follow the street up one side and down the other, presents the following picture: Next to the church is a drug-store, then a gambling-hell, then a pair of massive private residences, then the office of a dentist, then a school-house, then a machine-shop, then a trio of private houses, then one of the most notorious bagnios in the city, then an Italian confectionary establishment, then the business-place of a manufacturer of mathematical instruments; opposite this is a drugstore, and in the same building another baguio, next to this a pair of tenth-rate boarding-houses, upon whose doors and window-sills may be found the unmistakable finger-marks of vulgarity, then a couple of the finger-marks of vulgarity then a couple of the finger-marks store, and in the same building another bagnio, next to this a pair of tenth-rate boarding-houses, upon whose doors and window-silis may be found the unmistakable finger-marks of valgarity, then a couple of dwelling-houses, then the rooms of an association of Christians, with a library and reading-room, then a few more dwellings, next to these the office of a daily paper, and lastly, one of the finest private mansions in the city. Within this little space are congregated Christians and Israelites, Caucasians and negroes, harlots and gamblers, mechanics and merchants, wisdom and wickedness, refinement and proletarianism, and yet the locality is not the least pleasant in the city, and the neighborhood is quite as good as may be found in the heart of any metropolis. found in the heart of any metropolis.

Row os Water-Street—Man's Skull Badly Fractured. A party of men became involved in a difficulty, yesterday afternoon, at a drinking-house, on Water-street between Walnut and Main, and one of them anned James Tracy was so severely injured that it is thought he can not recover. Although the row seemed general, it appears that he and another named Jeffries had a personal rencounter, during which the latter struck the former with a slung-shot, severely fracturing his skull. Tracy was removed to his residence on Ludlow-street, where every attention was paid him by his medical attendant, Dr. Beek, but late last night he was in such a condition as to reader his ultimate recovery very doubtful.

Lectures.—This evening Carl Shurz, of Wisconsin, will lecture before the Library Association on France, and, though he has some peculiar, not to say irrational, opinions of Louis Napoleon, he is a man of superior parts, and will give an able and in-teresting discourse on the subject he has chosen.

AMUSHMENTS.

PIRE'S OPERA-HOUSE,-Mr. and Mrs. Waller begin an engagement at the Opera-house this evening, appearing in the tragedy of Macbeth, which evening, appearing in the tragedy of Macbeth, which they have before represented in this city with marked success: Mrs. Waller being considered by many the best living representative of "Lady Macbeth." This lady is one of the first tragediennes in the country, and should meet with the liberal patronage she deserves. The performance will conclude with the new commedetta of Sowebedy Ele. in which Mr. Davidge will ennet "Hans Moritz," and the pretty and vivacious Addie Prector, the character of "Minnie."

WOOD'S THEATER.—Barry Sullivan has been succeded at this house by J. S. Chanfran, who has appeared in this city on different occasions, and met with no small favor from our community. To-anght The Hidden Hand and The Misled Wyfe will be represented, Chanfran personating "Wood" and "Pygmalion Bonnefol" in the two pieces mentioned.

NEWPORT NEWS.

Arrest of an Alleged Counterpriter.
Stephen Brown, who was committed, a few days since, by the Circuit Court of Kenton County, on an indictment for dealing in counterfeit money, was arrested in this city, on Saturday last, on a similar charge. He will have an examination before Mayor Hawkins to-day.

Tenesicnonean.—The Silver Moon Dancing Association will give its first grand soirce to-morrow evening, and it will doubtless be a grand affair.

COMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.

Monetary and Commercial. In monetary matters there was no special change on Saturday from any previous day of the week, although the demand for Currency and Ex-week, although the demand for Currency and Ex-change was more active, and rates for the latter were still firmer.

The money market appeared easier on Saturday than it was at the opening of the week, but still the inquiry was good and rather a close feeling was ex-perienced in financial circles, without, however, any pressure.

Eastern Exchange was still steady at Section, buy-ing and 's prem. selling rate; dealers paying in and complimes 15c. for Drafts on Philadelphia and New Very cometimes Sc. for Drafts on Philadelphia and New York.

In Gold few transactions occurred, though some of the agents of the country Banks were in the city and purchasing coin at too, permittin.

New Orleans Exchange was still very duit, and some Bankers would not purchase even at 35 discount, though the regular figure was 15 discount.

No alteration occurred in Uncurrent Money, in which not much was doing, nor has there been for several weeks.

The rates of Exchange and Coin at the close of the week were:

Buying. Selling.

R. E. Brewster, a merchant of San Francisco, just returned from the Washoe Mines, in Carson Valley; brings specimens of silverore, which assays over $30,000 per tum.

Democratic primary elections have been held in seventeen counties. The delegates to the State Convention so far as heard from, stand one hundred and forty-six for Latham, and forty-four for Gwin and Weller, indicating, without doubt, that the Latham influence will secure the California delegation to the Charleston Convention. The Latham delegates from San Francisco are in favor of sending Austin E. Smith to Charleston. He is a son of Hon, William Smith, of Virginia, and is favorable to Dickenson, of New York, for the Presidency. and is favorable to Dickenson, of New for the Presidency.

The upper rivers continue to fall slowly, with six feet water in the Illinois, five and a half in the Mississippi below Kookuk, three feet on the lower rapids, and three and a half on the upper rapids. The Missouri is low and in "bad condition," with only three feet in the present form, but it is the missouri of the lower and form. only three feet in the upper and four feet in the lower end of the river. Weather warm during the day, with a refreshing shower this evening.

St Louis, March 18.—A street encounter occurred yesterday afternoon at Jefferson City, between Jas. Hughes, Deputy-Warden of the Penitentiary, and Mr. Dozier, formerly a guard in the prison, resulting in the almost death of both. The cause is assigned to an old grudge, aggravated by recent political differences. Both leave families.

was still slowly receding last evening, with little more than twelve feet channel-depth hence to Louis-ville. The river continues to recede from Pitssbarg to Caire, but the stage of water is sufficient for all purposes of navigation.

The same beautiful weather we have heretofore noticed continued yesterday and or Saturday, without any indications of rail.

Business at the Landing was quite animated on Saturday, and freights were offered freely for the lower ports, with slight supplies for the upper. Hates were firm at those ligures:
